MANY INDICTMENTS IN FEDERAL COURT

Many of Accused Plead Guilty Before Judge Cochran and Penalties Are Imposed

With the Sam Freedman whiskey case out of the way, Judge Cochran devoted most of Tuesday to hearing reports from the grand jury in U. S. court and taking pleas from those accused.

B. L. Middleton, of Richmond, was named foreman of the grand jury and with Assistant District Attorney Rodney Bryson in charge, a big day's work was accomplished, something over 150 indictments, practically all for violation of the prohibition laws, being returned. A large number of the accused were present and many entered pleas of guilty and threw themselves on the mercy of the court. Fines of $100 for transporting or possession of liquor unlawfully were the usual penalties for first offense where guilty pleas were entered. Those who admitted making whiskey or possessing apparatus for the manufacturing the illicit beverage, will mostly be sentenced later.

ESTILL DAMAGE CASE AFFIRMED

The $3,000 judgment awarded to Horace Henry's administrator against the Louisville and Nashville railroad company was upheld Tuesday at Frankfort by the court of appeals. Henry was drowned in the Kentucky river near West Irvine, Estill county, while engaged in recovering ties from the river for the railroad company.

Holding that the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroad company should have had a directed verdict the court reversed the $1,500 damages allowed Mrs. Eliza Moore by the Lincoln circuit court for personal injuries sustained while a passenger of the railroad company. A new trial was ordered.

EARL CURTIS TAKES CHARGE AT TAYLOR

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 15—Ralph M. Barker, director of warehouses of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, will leave for West Virginia and eastern Ohio this week to make final arrangements for the opening of the association receiving plants at Huntington, St. Albans and Hurricane, W. Va., and at Gallipolis and Crown City, Ohio.

Earl E. Curtis, of Richmond, who has been in charge of the West Virginia field following the resignation of Harry B. Carpenter, Jr., on account of illness, will have charge of the association's property at Camp Taylor, including the receiving plant, storage plant and redriver. Mr. Curtis has arrived in Lexington on the way to his new work. He was greatly pleased with the results of the final drive in West Virginia and eastern Ohio.

"The final week of the campaign we were enabled to enlist the aid of some of the most prominent farmers and business men in the territory," Mr. Curtis said. "On account of the typography of the tobacco section we had to canvass we had a tremendous task and while we did not obtain all that we hoped for, we have a large and splendidly loyal membership in West Virginia and the contiguous counties in Ohio."

"The tobacco growers of that section will be as loyal as any in the association and I think we are to be congratulated on having such men as our members."

LOST—Child's brown knit cap on Second street or Red House Pike. Return to Mrs. James Cosby.

Oldham county had 2,194 horses and 1,376 mules in 1920.

Latest From The Quake

Santiago, Nov. 15—The latest reports from the town of Valparaiso place the number both killed and injured there as a result of last week's earthquake at thirteen hundred. It is believed the total killed and injured in Valparaiso valley may reach fifteen hundred. Scarcely a house remains standing in the valley. It is expected the number of dead may be substantially increased when communication is resumed with the interior villages whose fates are unknown.

PROTEST RECENT TREASURY RULING

Washington, Nov. 15—American distillers today filed a formal protest with Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair against enforcing the recent treasury decision requiring drastic changes in the form and condition of permits under which they operate. The decision, distillers say, make it practically impossible to continue those activities found to be entirely legal under a most stringent interpretation of the prohibition law.

Much of the distillers' complaint seems to revolve around the drastic provisions governing furnishing bonds of $100,000 for each manufacturer whose plant produces alcohol, one fourth of which the distillers say, would be forfeited on a casual clerical error. The impression at the treasury today was that some ground was found for the complaints and that the decision in question would be materially modified.

GERMANS HAVING CABINET TROUBLE

Berlin, Nov. 15—President Ebert today is bending every effort toward the formation of a new cabinet to succeed the Wirth administration the fall of which was announced last night. The Wirth administration resigned when United Socialists refused to join in the Coalition ministry. A number of solutions of the crisis have been suggested. One is for a cabinet of "business men without party affiliations," while another probability concerns itself with a ministry composed only of bourgeois. It is uncertain whether Wirth will again be commissioned to constitute a new ministry.

Miss MacSwiney's Condition Worse

Dublin, Nov. 15—A statement from other women political prisoners at Mount Joy prison, where Miss Mary MacSwiney is undergoing a hunger strike, said that her condition is worse and it is feared she would die.

Normal Commission To Meet Saturday

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15—The Normal School commission will meet here Saturday to select a site for the Eastern Kentucky Normal School authorized by the last session of the legislature. Morehead, West Liberty and Paintsville are strong contenders.

U. D. C. Meets

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 15—Mrs. Levingston Schuyler, president general, delivering the annual report to United Daughters of the Confederacy, urged completion of the Jefferson Davis monument at Fairview, Ky. "It rests with us," she said, "to see that Davis receives the proper recognition, otherwise the history of the South may never be correctly told."

Dave Brown To Die Thursday

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15—Unless Governor Morrow intervenes, Dave Brown, convicted in Pike county on a charge of double murder, must die in the electric chair at Eddyville penitentiary tomorrow morning. The governor has already granted four reprieves. Brown shot and killed Jim Brumfield and Brumfield's infant child during a difficulty over Brumfield's wife.

MADISON HOUND RIGHT AT FRONT

Washington C. H., Ohio, Nov. 15—Two Kentucky and a Texas hound are tied for first place after the second day's session of the National Fox Hunters' Association's meet here. The hounds are owned by Jennings Maupin, of Richmond, Ky., V. C. Woodford, of Winchester, Ky., and T. C. Lindsey, of Keensville, Texas. Washington Court House is filled with visitors. More than 2,000 watched the start and 400 automobiles lined the road. The weather is ideal.

Dr. Landrum Baptist's New Moderator

Middlesboro, Ky., Nov. 15—Dr. W. W. Landrum, of Russellville, was elected moderator of the General Association of Kentucky Baptists at their meeting here. The feature of tonight is the laymen's banquet with 400 expected to attend.

Verify Mrs. Gibson's Story Of Double Murder In N. J.

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 15—Authorities checking up the story of Mrs. Jane Gibson, who claims she witnessed the Hall-Mills murder, today said many of her statements have been verified by a visit to the murder spot, especially the location of the tree where she claimed to have tied her mule, and a strawberry bed, a stump and a clearing. James Mill, husband of the slain choir singer, today demanded the return of letters from Rev. Hall to Mrs. Mills, which a woman lawyer sold to a newspaper.

Here For Federal Court

Miss Sara Monday, former deputy federal clerk here and now stationed at Catlettsburg, is in Richmond during the big term of federal court now on. Miss Monday is very popular in Richmond and is receiving a cordial welcome from her many friends. Among the new attaches of federal court is Deputy Marshal John McKenzie, of Lexington, who is acting as court deputy, and proving himself very competent and efficient in this work.

In Memory Of my little daughter, Daisy Pearl Duncan.

One year ago you left us, one year our hearts have pained, but one thing that comforts us is that we shall meet again in heaven around the great white throne; when there we shall never more wish to call this earth our home. Your eyes that once did sparkle, they now in death are closed and those pretty curly tresses lie now in dampness mold; but what a pleasure for us to know that with God doth rest thy soul.

Your little toys are still waiting in a trunk that sets upstairs, but they need not wait longer for my darling will not, enter there; for in paradise she is waiting till God shall take her home and there she will have more pleasure than with the toys in this earthly home. Your clattering tongue, true we miss, and those sweet lips that used to meet us with a kiss, but God has claimed them for His own. So, farewell little Daisy Pearl until we meet in our heavenly home.—Mrs. William Asher.

Mr. N. W. Fowle, of Louisville, and daughter, Mrs. Tom Hendren, of Richmond, were recent visitors of friends in Stanford.

The pie-supper at West End Saturday night was a success. The pies sold for something over $10.

Mrs. W. L. Harrison was very sick the first of the week. Mrs. Dave Williams has returned home from the Robinson Hospital.

Mrs. Jake White Loses Mother

Mrs. Nancy E. Williams died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. S. White, on the Jack's Creek road early Wednesday morning, death resulting from a burn, her dress catching fire from the hall stove late Monday evening. Mrs. Williams has spent her entire life in this county and her death is deeply regretted by a large circle of friends. She was 84 years of age and was a member of the Methodist church. Surviving her are one daughter, Mrs. J. S. White, and granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Cobb, Jr., who have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. Funeral services will be held by Dr. Sadler at the grave Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, interment following in Richmond cemetery.

A Correction

CATTLE FEEDING TEST AT STATION

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 15—Feeding operations have just been started on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for the second year of a three-year test being made by the experiment station to find out whether beef cattle feeders can leave silage out of the ration during the last part of the feeding season without giving their cattle a setback it was announced today by L. J. Horiacher, in charge of the work.

Results of the experiment, which was started last year, are expected to clear up what seems to be one of the big problems of Kentucky beef cattle feeders at the present time. Every year the station receives scores of inquiries on how to handle fattening cattle from farmers who say their silage is about gone. This condition results from the fact that the amount of silage in the silo is frequently miscalculated with the result that it gives out before the cattle are ready for market. The feeding test now being made has a special significance in view of the fact that a radical change of feed in the middle of a feeding period necessarily gives cattle a setback.

Two lots of ten two-year-olds, grade Hereford steers, weighing about 940 pounds each, are being used in the test this year. These in both lots will be fed shelled corn, silage, straw and cottonseed meal for about 75 days after which those in one lot will be given clover hay instead of the silage for the remainder of the feeding period which will last about 120 days.

Results obtained in the experiment last year show that it is best to feed silage through the entire feeding period. During the first ten days last year in which the clover hay was being used instead of the silage, each of the steers had a change of feed lost an average of twenty-four and a half pounds. The average daily gains made by the steers in this lot throughout the entire fattening period also were not as large as those made by the steers that had corn silage during the entire period.

The steers that had corn silage during the entire feeding period made an average gain of 2.72 pounds each while those that received the clover hay instead of the silage during the last days of the feeding period made an average daily gain of 2.57 pounds each.

LEWIS CONCERT PARTY PLEASURES

Artists Give Splendid Program
At Normal Chapel Monday Evening to Big Audience

A large crowd gathered in the Normal chapel Monday evening to hear the concert given by the Lewis Concert party. This group of artists gave the first program of the Lyceum course which has been planned for the coming winter. The party is headed by Sam Lewis, a distinguished Welsh tenor, who was received in Richmond by many friends whom he made while he was here in 1917 singing at the Brooks meeting at the First Christian church. He also gave a concert at this church a year later when he met with similar success. Mr. Lewis is one of the most popular ballad singers in America, having a voice with a richness which goes home to every hearer. He pleased the audience with his interpretation of "The Americans Come," a little song that came out of the world war. His rich tenor voice appealed to this group when he sang "Carry Me Back to Olden," and other ballads of this type, altho his heavier work was greatly applauded.

Linn Schuler, violinist, with this concert company, was exceptional in his technique and interpretation. A group of gypsy songs were beautiful as this artist is especially good in interpreting compositions. "Ava Maria" played by Mr. Schuler, met with great favor with this audience.

Nell Adams read several selections, but her presentation of "Happiness" was unusual. Her voice and personality readily assumed any part she was giving.

Marie Colilton, the pianist, who appeared with the Lewis concert party, is not only an accompanist, but an artist of note. She gave three solo numbers which displayed her ability and technique.

MISS LUCY PATTIE DIES IN FRANKFORT

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 15—Miss Lucy Pattie, 80 years old, for the last 15 years an employee of the department of education, died here Tuesday. Miss Pattie was the only woman member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, the order having admitted her to membership because she preserved the records of the fraternity during the Civil War. She is survived by one sister, Miss Louise Pattie, of Frankfort, and one brother, Coleman Pattie, of Richmond. Miss Pattie's death occurred following a stroke of apoplexy suffered Monday night. She had been ill for six weeks.

Here's Your Hampden

The Daily Register is much interested in what the city and country papers are saying about the next Democratic candidate for governor. Many of the Democratic papers call for a new deal, they demand a man who ranks above the average professional politician and candidate; in fact, one has called for a John Hampden, of the Cromwellian age who shall lead his party and his state to bigger and better things.

Some papers say this is dictatorial, especially when certain candidates and prospective candidates are more or less proscribed. It appears to the Daily Register, however, that any and every newspaper has an indisputable right to express its frank opinion of any man who is mentioned or announced for such exalted position, and while some of such may find much favor in the eyes of this newspaper, still it would not object to other journals expressing their opinions.
That is the right of every man and every newspaper.

But they call for an Hampden;
a man who stands four-square; integrity unimpeachable; courage undenied; wearing the collar of no man or set of men; no chronic office-seeker nor professional politician, a man who has made good in executive capacities that may fit him for the greater sphere of the Executive Mansion, and yet withal a man who sees in the opportunities as governor of Kentucky, a field of real constructive usefulness, of sincere willingness to serve his state as his ambition, and not a stepping stone to some future political preferment. These are their specifications, roughly stated. Many have endorsed them, but none has named a man to fit them; none has suggested a candidate who fills the bill.

The Daily Register knows such a man. Madison county Democracy offers him to the people of Kentucky at this hour, pronounced by many as so crucial in the affairs of the party and the state.

Circuit Judge W. Rodes Shackelford measures up in every way to the specifications that have been drawn. Judge Shackelford has not one single liability as the Democratic candidate for governor. His career has been remarkable. He stands unique among those who have been called to serve their people in official capacities.

Of course he has been in politics, but emphatically not as a professional politician. He runs under the rooster, and there, alone. He is elected as a Democrat but not the bitterest partisan can claim that he has ever "played politics" from the bench.

Nor can it be said that he has ever meddled in political or partisan affairs. As county judge and circuit judge he has attended strictly and solely to his duties, and the professional politicians have sought in vain for his favors or his influence.

They want a "business man."
Well, come up to Madison county and ask any man, woman or child, white or black, republican, democrat or independent, who was the best county judge Madison county ever had. Ask them who paid off the county's floating debt; who built the best roads, and who conducted the financial affairs of this great and prosperous county in the most business-like and efficient manner. Ask them who demonstrated qualities of business ability, efficiency and leadership which gave them complete confidence that he might worthily hold the helm of a greater commonwealth, administer its affairs to the interest of every taxpayer, every citizen, no matter how humble, the man who deserves an honest dollar's worth for every dollar spent. Ask them and they will tell you—Judge Shackelford.

They want a man who can defy the pardon-brokers, the office-hunters, the lobbyists, the grafters, the smooth gentry who infest the state capital, furtively and openly craving concessions selfishly seeking something for their benefit at the expense of the great body of the taxpayers of Kentucky. The governor needed must be a man of iron backbone, independent of influence and courageous of soul.

Come again to old Madison.
Here and in his circuit district, crooks and cravens tremble when Judge Shackelford ascends the bench. He rules his court, as he would the governorship, with an iron rod. A man with a righteous cause, no matter how humble he may be, is always secure within his intensely human judgment, but he who comes with an unjust plea, unclean hands, concealed conspiracy or ignominious intent quickly finds his motive discovered and his cause crucified before the bar by a righteous justice and exposed to the deserved contempt of a conscientious citizenry.

Judge Shackelford never compromises with dishonor of any sort. He wears no collar, as the saying is.

If Rodes Shackelford should be elected governor of Kentucky, there would be more crooks and grafters kicked out of that capitol at Frankfort during his term than has been known there in the last quarter of a century. He can tell a conniving crook to "Go to Hell!" more effectively and emphatically than any man the Daily Register ever knew. And if the Democrat-of Kentucky have sense enough to nominat him for governor, he'll do it, too.

Accused Selling Whisky,
Joins Husband in Jail

Harlan, Nov. 15 — Mrs. Margaret Ball, 26, Baxter, Ky., was fined $100 and given 30 days in jail on a charge of selling liquor.
Her husband already was in jail having been convicted of a like charge. John Smith testified that Ball at 50 cents each. He said two drinks made him drunk and the third unconscious. They were poured from a fruit jar into a wine glass, he said.

Such women should be guided by the experience of women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper. Many of them declare that they have been restored to health, strength and consequent happiness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable other medicines had failed to help them. It will surely pay women who suffer from such ailments to try it.

Uncle Henry writes again to the home folks about the trip to Cincinnati:

Seems like Mary's been after me to drop you folks a line ever since my last letter. I told her that I've written most every day but, as she says, picture postal cards don't count. I'm writing a real letter this time.

Well, we've been to the Zoo. Mary says she took me there to keep me from talking about going. We saw the animals and might have heard an opera only it was too late in the season for such.

Walking around kind of tuckered me out, so while Mary was watching the monkeys, I dragged myself to a bench, filled my pipe with Burley, and just sat back.

Sitting alongside of me, was another smoker. He kind of looked as though he was also taking a rest cure. Come to find out, that's just what he was doing.

Of course, sitting there, we got to swapping yarns. Seems like he and his wife live on a farm in Clinton County and their reason for coming to Cincinnati was almost the same as Mary's and mine.

"Jane and I," he says, "have been looking forward for some time to get some of this city dust on our shoes. Primarily, Jane's here to fill up her trunk with ammunition from the shops. But there's so many shops to select from, we just don't know where to begin."

Now wasn't that too bad. Here they were in Cincinnati to do some shopping and not knowing where to begin. So I told him about Mabley's. Told him that he could start and finish his shopping there—right under one roof without having to worry about where to buy next. To think of anyone coming to this city and not knowing about Mabley's.

I certainly turned myself inside out telling him about that store. How Mary and I just about used it for our headquarters when we came to Cincinnati.

"Why," I said, "it's real home like just to step inside the door. Everyone there's home folks. A friendly store that isn't too friendly."

And I told him about the men's clothing department. Showed him the suit I had on. That finished him. He was all for being in Mabley's then and there to get one just like it.

"Wait till I get Jane," he says, "and we'll leave right away for that store. There she is over there talking with a woman." "Why, that's Mary," I says, "and I can tell you what they are talking about. They are talking about Mabley's." I was right. Mary had gotten real friendly with his wife and had been telling her all about the boys and girls department and other departments of interest that only women can talk about.

It was then about noon, so I suggested we all have lunch together at the Mabley Annex and visit the different departments later.

Mary's calling me now to go to a picture show or something, so I'll leave you for the time being.

Yours Truly,

Henry.

Daughters of the American Revolution

The Boonesborough Chapter held its November meeting on Monday afternoon at Amberley, with Mrs. Caperton and Mrs. Paul Burnam as hostesses and Mrs. M. C. Kellogg, the new Regent, presiding. Mrs. Kellogg makes a charming presiding officer and the chapter feels that it is fortunate both in the selection of its Regent and of all the new officers for the coming year. It is a beautiful custom of the chapter to open all of its meetings with a Psalm and a prayer by its beloved Chaplain, Mrs. Alice P. Tribble. The paper for the afternoon was given by Miss Willie M. Kennedy, the subject "Disarmament." This subject was selected a year ago, when the year book for 1922 was issued and before the great International Convention for the Reduction of Armament had convened in Washington City. This subject of such vast importance was discussed by Miss Kennedy on Monday afternoon in a most brilliant and thoughtful manner, bringing out not only the far reaching results of the conference in Washington, held at Memorial Continental Hall, the home of the D. A. R., but also the conclusions of her own personal observations during her recent sojourn of six months in Europe. The problem of reduction of armaments by the great nations and the questions of international trade and commerce are subjects for the most astute brains of the world to solve. Miss Kennedy's discussion was both able, wise and delightful in every way and every one who was so fortunate as to have heard her feels it was a privilege indeed.

Mrs. Keith gave an excellent report of the State Conference at Lexington. Miss DeJarnette, retiring treasurer, reported the Boonesboro chapter still solvent and Miss Gibson, chairman of the programme committee, reported that the annual for 1923 was ready to go to press.

The chapter was most honored in having as guests for the afternoon Mrs. J. Harris Baughman, of Danville, Regent of the St. Asaph's Chapter; Miss Susan Fisher Woods, of Stanford, Regent of the Logan-Whitley Chapter; Miss Esther Burch, of Stanford, member of the State Board D. A. R., and Mrs. Richard C. Hocker, of Stanford, and Mrs. Geiger, of Huntington, W. Va., also active members of the D. A. R.

The social hour was enjoyable. Mrs. Jennings Greenleaf presiding over the tea cups and Miss Mary Barr Clay and Margaret Greenleaf assisting. Several pieces of old mahogany which have come down from pioneer days and now adorn this home furnished an appropriate background for a meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Among them may be mentioned the old sideboard from the family of Capt. James Estill, who preempts 15,000 acres of land in Kentucky; built Estill Station and was killed by the Indians at the battle of Estill's Depot at the early age of 32 years. A monument to his memory stands in the Richmond cemetery and was perhaps the second historical monument erected in the State. A grandfather's clock on the stairway marks the passing of time which was owned by Capt. Archibald Woods, another of the great pioneers of Madison county.

The Boonesboro Chapter now numbers 74 members many them non-resident; and a roll call of the ancestors of the members would include many of the most notable founders of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, as well as Madison county. The chapter is particularly pleased that a flag for the first time was kept floating from its staff over the site of Fort Boonesborough this summer. It was a matter of much regret that Mrs. Christopher D. Chenault, vice president general for Kentucky and founder of the chapter, could not be present on Monday.

Announcement is made of the arrival of a handsome son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Million. He will be called Glenn Wagers.

Rev. P. N. Taylor is attending the general association of Bap-

Less Meat If Kidneys Bother

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats too much meat can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Big meat eating may develop uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood; then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys. The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications.

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Menthio-Sulphur and improvement shows next day. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Menthio-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up. Get a small jar of Rowles Menthio-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S.S.S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can't live in the red rivers of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells!

The shame of a blemished face!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Pimples are worse yet! You can try everything under the sun—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, jovial complexion. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1898 as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.
